In the beginning of this year Mr. Clifford Lloyd was prointed Colonial Secretary of this island. For reasons unknown to us the title of Lientenant-Governor was also given to him. He was received by us and by all the inhabitants of this island with due respect, and we had hoped that he would have given his cordial support to Sir John Pope Hennessy, and that he would have contributed

But soon after his arrival it was known that he did no agree with the Governor, that all personal interconrec between them had coased, and that their official relations had become most unpleasant. At the evening session Morley said that the afternoon's meeting added a fresh article to the Liberal programme, viz., the early settlement of the Irish question upon an enduring basis, which is only securable by granting Ireland a legislative assembly of her own. Gladstone was still the leader of the party in spite of the combination against him. He (Morley) doubted very much the genuineness of the Radical proposals which Lord Randolph Churchill, dangled before the Bradford electors, and predicted that the spring of Tory reform would soon dry up. though the Government was receiving kindly help from his Radical friends of Birmingham. He would say nothing harsh of the dissident Liberals, but he thought it their duty to insist upon the present Government dealing with the Irish question without delay. The Tory statesmen and newspapers now paraded Ireland as stead of, as Lord Randolph Churchill annonneed, dealing with other questions first? The shelve the Irish question.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt ascribed the quietude of Ireland, not to a firm Conservative administration, but to the remedial action constantly applied to Ireland by Gladstone and to the reasonable expectation, with the assistance ment in accordance with her wishes. He said there was no cause for dismay regarding the position of the Liberal party. The Government, he said, had turned their backs on themselves not only on questions of franchise, government in Ireland, the closure and the land laws, but even on the question of their foreign policy. The Berlin treaty was now politely shown the

NEW YORK, 6th November. O'Connor cables to the Star from London: The disaffection among the Tories over Lord Randolph Churchill's Irish policy increase hourly. The difficulties in the way of the Cabinet threaten to be insuperable. It is now proposed by prominent Tories to postpone the introduction of the proposed closure rules. It is becoming more evident every day that Churchill has dug a pitfall for himself in his eagerness to gag the Nationalists. Sir William Harcourt's revelation of his own action, conjointly with Lords Hartington and Chamberlain, in this question causes consternation in the Tory camp. It is admitted to night that Harcourt's declaration and the opposition from within the Tory party are hurrying matters to a crisis between the Unionists and Tories. Signs of a complete backdown by the Government of Ireland have been multiplying lately. Today brought a further supply of proofs that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach is weakening, and that the Castle authorities are failing in the task of supporting the unreasonable landlords against the united rentors of Ireland . The surrender of Captain Plunkett is a significant event. In several cases beside that of Bennett he has refused to detail troops to evict tenants. Rents are appealed against as unfair. The "old man and the old cause," which were the watchwords of the occasion, are impossible to the dissidents and for the moment all talk of a reunion is also ichpossible. Moreover, the cleavage is increasing in other ways. The pa ty platform adopted at Leeds for the first tim e includes such radical projects as disestablish ment in Wales and a general though hazy declaration of religious equality all around; likewise free schools and non-intervention in Eur opean affairs. One need hardly remark that apart from the project of an Irish Legislature this Liberal programms must be far too advanced for Lord Hartington and his Whig allies. In another direction the conference has done an act which must keep the home rulers and Chamberlain section apart for a long time to come. John Morley's speech, delivered from written notes after a visit to Hawarden, suggests the origin of his attack upon Chamberlain. For the first time a leading public man has declared Chamberlain to be at the head of a combination to expel Gladstone from political life, and the whole Liberal party, as represented at Leeds, declared by its thundering applause that it will revenge itself on the authors of such
